

弓力 THE POWER OF THE BOW 弓力

CONTENTS of the book The Power of the Bow by Johannes Haubner:

Preface

I. THE BOW, HEAVENLY WEAPON IN THE MYTHOLOGY OF SHINTŌ

Amaterasu and a quiver with a thousand arrows
Susanoo and the whizzing arrow
The divine messengers and the heavenly bows and arrows
Ame no Futotama no Mikoto and Ame no Koyane no Mikoto
Jimmu Tennō, Japan's first "Heavenly Sovereign"
Yamato Takeru no Mikoto, the pioneer of the Yamato Kingdom
Jingū Kōgō, a regent and shaman woman
Ōjin Tennō, the sovereign with the congenital string pad

II. THE BOW AND ITS MEANING IN CONFUCIANISM AND BUDDHISM

Confucianism and Archery in Popular Education

Ake Tamanosuke, Guan Di and the ideals of Confucianism

Buddhism and Archery

Siddhartha Gautama and the arrows of insight
Kannon, goddess of mercy
Benzai-ten, goddess of poetry and music
Aizen Myō-ō, guardian of love and lust
Shōmen Kongō, king of ignorance and malice
Hachiman, god of war and protection

III. THE BOW, WEAPON OF WARRIORS AND HEROES

Yūryaku Tennō (5th century) and the immigrants from Korea
The Soga Clan and the spread of new ideologies
Empress Suiko (593-628), Prince Shōtoku (574-622) and Buddhism
From a state dominated by local clans to a centralized state

The Expansion of the Yamato Realm in the Nara and Heian Periods

Kamitsukenu Katana (7th century)
Sakanoue no Tamuramaro (758-811)
Fun'ya no Watamaro (765-823)

The Imperial Court Moves from Nara to Heian-kyō

Fujiwara no Toshiyuki (9th century)

Minamoto no Tsunemoto (894-961)
Minamoto no Mitsunaka (912-997)
Taira no Masakado (? - 940) and his ghostly troops
Minamoto no Yoriyoshi (998 to about 1082)
Minamoto no Yoshiie (about 1039-1106)

The Rise of the Provincial Warrior Class

Taira no Kiyomori (1118-1181)
Minamoto no Tameyoshi (1096-1156) and Yoshitomo (1123-1160)
Minamoto no Tametomo (1139-1170)
Minamoto no Yoshihira (1141-1160)

The Power Struggle between Genji and Heike

The main opponents in the Genpei War (1180–1185)
Minamoto no Yoshitsune (1159-1189)
Minamoto no Yorimasa and the first battle of Uji River (1180)
Kajiwara Kagesue, Sasaki Takatsuna and the second battle of Uji River (1184)
Taira no Tadanori (1144-1184)
Taira no Atsumori and Kumagai no Naozane in the battle of Ichi no Tani (1184)
Miura no Daisuke Yoshiaki (1093-1181)
Kaneko no Juro Ietada (1138-1216)
Wada no Kataro Yoshimori (1147-1213)
The Battle of Yashima (1185)
The Satō brothers Tsugunobu and Tadanobu
Nasu no Yoichi and his legendary shot at a fan
The destruction of the Taira in the naval battle of Dan no Ura (1185)
Taira no Tomomori (1152-1185)
Minamoto no Yoritomo (1147-1199), first shōgun of the Kamakura Shogunate
Hatakeyama Shigetada (1164-1205)
Tomoe Gozen (1157-1247), an exceptional female warrior
Hangaku Gozen (13th century)

The Minamoto Clan at the Height of Power

Hōjō Tokimasa (1138-1215) and his daughter Masako (1157-1225)

The Decline of the Kamakura Shogunate

Nitta Yoshisada (1301-1338)
Kusunoki Masashige (1294-1336)
Kusunoki Masatsura (1326-1348)

The Period of the Warring States and the Reunification of the Country

Takeda Katsuyori (1546-1582)
Oda Nobunaga (1534-1582)
Toyotomi Hideyoshi (1535-1598)
Tokugawa Ieyasu (1543-1616)
The most important generals of the Japanese Middle Ages

IV. THE BOW IN LITERATURE AND ARTS

Ancient Narratives and Tales

Ariwara no Narihira and the Ise monogatari
Prince Genji, the Japanese Don Juan
Fujiwara no Hidesato (Tawara no Tōda) and the centipede
Minamoto no Yorimitsu and his fight against the demons
Minamoto no Yorimasa and the monster Nue
Tamamo no Mae, the fox spirit

Yuriwaka Daijin, the Japanese Odysseus
The revenge of the forty-seven rōnin
Minamoto no Tametomo in Bakin's novel "Yumiharizuki"
Bakin's characters Kusunoki Koma-hime, Taye and Tajikichi
The dog warriors in Bakin's novel "Hakkenden"

The Bow in Plays

The Nō plays
The Kabuki
The Kyōgen

Remarkable Depictions of Bows in Ukiyo-e

The late revenge of the artist Iwasa Matabei
Frogs and fruits with the bow

V. BOWMAKING AND ARCHERY SCHOOLS

The making and mystical meaning of bows and arrows
Traditional archery schools
The Ogasawara ryū
The Heki ryū and other archery schools

VI. THE BOW DURING THE EDO AND EARLY MEIJI PERIODS

The Rise of Edo to a Metropolis

Ōta Dōkan (1432-1486), the founder of Edo
The Tokugawa Shogunate / the Edo period

The Changing Image of the Samurai in the 19th Century

Hunting with the bow
Archery as a leisure activity
Archery in the entertainment districts
The bow at parades and festivals

The Bow between Competition and Ceremony

Inuomono - the dog hunt
Yabusame and Kasagake - mounted archery
Horobiki
Competitions at Sanjūsangendō
Ceremonial archery competitions
Bow rituals without specific targets: Meigen, Hikime, Yumitori Shiki
Japan's "sacred bows"

The Myth is still Alive

Appendices

Timeline of Japan's History
References
Image Rights
Bibliography
Short Biographies of Woodblock Artists
Index of Persons

<http://powerofbow.com/>